Success Stories

Financial

eToro was founded in 2007 to counter the overly complex nature of foreign exchange (forex) trading and to make it accessible to newcomers and experienced traders alike.

eToro came to EyeView looking for a homepage video that would clearly explain the advantages of the eToro platform and increase the number of people who DOWNLOAD the platform.

The A/B test compared the existing landing page against the same page with the video embedded in it. In addition, the video was set to autoplay for first-time visitors. The results showed that the page with the video converted 31.97% more traffic than the page without the video.

"EyeView A/B tested their solution on our landing page. In one test they kept the original landing page and on the other they implemented the video solution. EyeView's solution proved an increase of above 30% in conversion rate. It is as simple as that."

Education

TutorVista provides live one-to-one tutoring online across a range of grades and subjects.

TutorVista asked EyeView to increase conversion for a specific landing page to which they were driving their traffic. The conversion goal was for visitors to click the SUBSCRIBE button.

We used TutorVista's existing landing page as the baseline and tested it against the same page with the video autoplaying once for first-time visitors. The test achieved statistical significance with an 86 percent increase in Conversion.

"We implemented EyeView's solution on one of our landing pages that already had an impressive conversion rate. The very first test they ran boosted conversion by over 80 percent. EyeView really works."

Software

Ginger Software is the leading contextual spelling and grammar checker.

Ginger Case Study

Ginger asked EyeView to develop an introductory video for their homepage to increase the conversion of this page for visitors. The conversion goal for the page was to DOWNLOAD and INSTALL Ginger's software.

Over the course of a few weeks, EyeView tested a number of different scenarios to increase conversion starting with autoplaying the video versus a click-to-play trigger. With every test a new conversion champion was crowned with a cumulative increase in conversion of over 15 percent.

"Since day one, EyeView has been working hard to optimize our homepage. They even tested the video with British accent and an American accent to see which performed better in each country with amazing results. So far, we have seen a 15% increase in the number of people downloading our software."

Amit Gilon, Senior Vice President, Business Development

After optimizing the placement and format of the video's dynamic trigger, EyeView was able to improve the conversion rate for the page by over 20%.

The result: Tested and proven increase in conversion of 20%
